Lance Folden

Our Canon Specialist has spent many years in the field of photography, starting when he was in high school. Lance's father was a freelance photographer who gave him access to a lot of cameras and lenses as well as a darkroom in the garage.

He started managing camera stores in 1987 and continued to do until 2004 when he started working at Marketstar. Primarily a sports photographer Lance has developed a great appreciation and understanding of other fields of photography such as macro, wildlife, and portraits through his many years with canon.
